

2023/24 Scholarship Winners

Emma Topp

- plays for BPC FC
- pursuing a Bachelor of Applied Science in biomedical engineering with a minor in commerce at UBC
- has a profound passion for medical technology aimed at improving the lives of individuals with type one diabetes and similar medical conditions,
- community - volunteer mentoring young women considering the UBC engineering program; WiE collaborated with members to organize and implement the WiE high school mentorship program; assisted in data for concussion sensor mouthguards - and much more!

Nena Sofia Nicolls (Sofia)

- plays for Fusion FC
- pursuing a MSc. Women and Children's Health, at UBC
- will be assessing attitudes of women living with HIV - and - analysing the types oncogenic HPV DNA present in unvaccinated women living with HIV
- community - volunteer help survivors of domestic abuse move out of unsafe living conditions; volunteer at a shelter to improve the health, safety and well-being of women and gender-diverse people involved in the street-based sex trade; volunteer cook and server Union Gospel Hall - and much more

Kheya McGill

- plays for Delta United
- pursuing a Master of Physical Therapy at UBC and has completed a Bachelors of Kinesiology at UBC
- will be working as a physiotherapist combining her knowledge of human movement and its impact on health and wellness in improving the quality es lives of patients
- community - softball coach Special Olympics for ten years; BC Children's Hospital Foundation advocate for raising awareness with numerous fundraisers; peer support coordinator of Pediatric Neurosurgery as a liaison between families for the BCCH Neurosurgery department - and much more